This manual is prepared in compliance with the standard syllabus of “International Economics” for students majoring in International Economics. The first volume of the manual presents basic principles of architecture of the modern world economic system as well as theoretical and applied fundamentals of the modern forms of international economic relations (international trade of goods and services and international movement of productive factors).

Each chapter of the manual presents both theoretical aspects and practical examples. Multiple choice questions, practical problems and cases are designed to systematize and strengthen understanding and implementation of the international economics issues.

Pragmatic and applied nature of the manual makes it a useful reference book for both students and professionals in the field of international economics.

Навчальний посібник підготовлено відповідно до навчальної програми дисципліни «Міжнародна економіка. Мікроекономіка». Посібник охоплює принципи побудови сучасної міжнародної економічної системи та її структури, теоретичні та прикладні засади сучасних форм міжнародних економічних відносин (міжнародної торгівлі товарами та міжнародний рух факторів виробництва).

Кожна глава посібника містить теоретичні питання, практичні приклади, тести, практичні завдання та кейси. Навчальний посібник розрахований на студентів та практиків, які працюють у сфері міжнародної економіки.
